

BS1b 4th practical deadline: effects of air traffic delays

This note provides some information if any students are unable to travel to Oxford in the next ten days because of the current air traffic delays and any consequential disruption to flight schedules.

The deadline for the fourth BS1b practical will remain as: 12 noon Friday week 1, Trinity Term 2010.

1. If a student taking BS1 is in Oxford, then the student should hand-in his/her practical work at the Department of Statistics in the usual way.
2. If a student taking BS1 is unable to travel to Oxford by the deadline, then the student should submit his/her practical work electronically as follows:
 - by the deadline, email his/her practical work to the Academic Administrator in the Department of Statistics (Jan Boylan, boylan@stats.ox.ac.uk)
 - including with the practical work an electronic Declaration of Authorship (blank version of the declaration available at http://www.stats.ox.ac.uk/current_students/bammath/course_material)

The student will receive an Email confirming that his/her practical has been received in good order, and should keep this Email as evidence of submission.
