Conference Facilities

The Department of Statistics moved to its newly-renovated building on St Giles' at the beginning of 2016, providing state-of-the-art teaching and conference facilities with modern space to allow collaboration and integration. It is perfectly situated for easy access to the centre of Oxford as well as the bustling coffee shops and restaurants of Jericho.

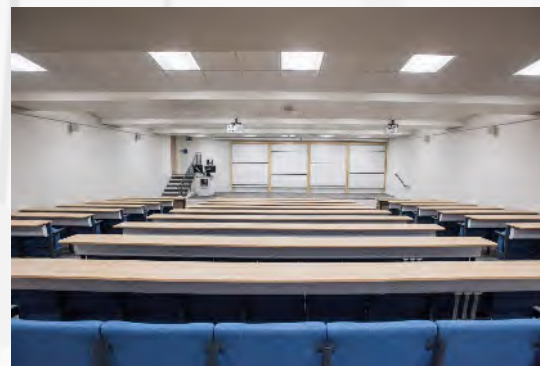

The self-contained lower ground floor conference suite includes a lecture theatre seating up to 120 people, a small lecture room for up to 34 people and an IT & Teaching suite for up to 48 people, plus two small meeting rooms. Full IT and audio/visual support is available including projectors, LCD wall mounted screens and touchscreens and induction loop audio support. There is also the option to record talks and to stream to other meeting rooms.

On the ground floor, the light and airy modern social area looks out across St Giles' and is well equipped to host coffee breaks, buffet-style lunches and drinks receptions for up to 120 people. All rooms are fully wheelchair accessible.

We have strong links to neighbouring colleges allowing the provision of accommodation and evening dinners for residential conferences.
